1. Which of the following is not a necessary condition for the stability of a solution to a differential equation?

A. The solution must be bounded.
B. The solution must be continuous.
C. The solution must be differentiable.
D. The solution must approach a fixed point as t approaches infinity.

Answer: C